

Holiday Letter - December 2011

Life is about choice. Each of us has made and will continue to make decisions - good and bad. Even with choice, it's not possible to control all that happens to us in life.

As a society of humans, we have created safety nets to help catch those who, whether for short or long-term, face difficulty. Whether taught or innate, we desire to help each other.

Charitable giving, in dollars and/or time, is one of the most important facets of maintaining our modern society. It is a tradition of long standing. Of course, many of us can give neither dollars nor time. But it is important to keep your heart open to the idea and to the possibility in the future. The experience will add to your quality of life.

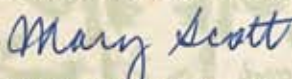

I give because:

- ◆ I can.
- ◆ It helps me feel more connected to others.
- ◆ I want to applaud the work of others who toil on behalf of, and/or are donors to organizations whose work I believe is crucial.
- ◆ Health delivery organizations like Salud, have proven invaluable to me through family members' experiences.

Whether you assess your giving plan at year's end, or another time, I am asking you as a community member, to share some of your dollars with The Estes Park Salud Foundation. Our mission is to assist the local Salud Family Health Center in it's almost 20 years of providing excellent primary care to anyone in need, regardless of ability to pay.

While these words are my own, I am part of a team of volunteers that make up the Estes Park Salud Foundation Board. Our Salud would not exist without the wonderful and dedicated clinic staff. We are your neighbors and friends. We all care very much about the people of the Estes Valley. We know you do, too.

Salud! and happiness to all in 2012,

Mary Scott, President
